HILL 303 MEMORIAL 추 모 비
Hill 303 of Jak-O is the historic battlefield where the fierce last defense line battle of Waegwan and Nakdong River of Korean War was fought.
This is the place where the soldiers of U.S. 1st Cavalry Division bravely fought to defeat the North Korean communist invaders by sacrificing their countless lives. Also, at this site, 40 POWs of the U.S. 5th Regiment were brutally massacred by North Korean soldiers on 17 August 1950.
This monument is erected to remember the spirit of their noble sacrifice of those countless fallen heroes who fought to defend the peace and freedom of South Korea.

On August 3rd, 1950 evacuation orders were issued to Waegwan Villagers in an attempt to counter the North Korean assault by destroying the foot and the iron bridge across the Nak Dong River. The 1st Cavalry Division, commanded by Major General Gay, defending Waegwan Jago Mountain (Hill 303), and Hyunpung
Gunsung was ordered with conducting an assault against the North Korean 3rd Division and 105th Armored Division. The 1st Cavalry Division was successful in holding the Daegu and Nak-Dong defense line. The Republic of Korea Army 1st Division also contributed in the defense of Yuhak Mountain and Dabudong. This thousands battle lasted for 55 days from early August to the 24th of September.
The Battle of Hill 303 on August 17th, 42 American alike sacrificed their lives at lives defending Hill 303. Therefore, in commemoration of the 60th Anniversary of the Korean War, we erect this monument at the peak of Jago Mountain overlooking the Nak-Dong River so that all will remember the battle cries and noble sacrifices of those who perished. May this Monument enrich the spirits of liberty, peace and patriotism forever.
