

FYI

A new system now exists for expressway 1 (at this time). When you get your ticket at a toll booth, a date-time is encoded in the ticket. When you get to an exit toll booth, a computer reads the departing date-time and the arriving date-time, and calculates the time you should have arrived. If you arrived at the toll booth earlier than you should have, a beep is sounded and you will be taken aside and issued a citation. There is supposed to be a 30 day grace period but be advised that this system has been in effect for about two weeks already. It is only a matter of a short time before it is incorporated at all toll booths for all expressways.
